

signchro advanced digital signage system, now even better.

We have introduced players with over 60% more speed along with more choices of outputs while keeping the same compact size and energy efficient philosophy. This allows for more independent displays per player in addition to providing 55% more area for content with Full HD (1080p) support.

Our industry approved gaming features have also received a facelift with synchronised verification of winners across all devices, along with a new animated spinning wheel that can contain prizes of your choice.

You now have even more control from your fingertips with many additional devices supported and improvements in load times for your remotes. There are also new features such as editable menu items and dynamic labels allowing you and your staff to keep your displays up to date from anywhere.

Signchro is now a 100% true cloud system. We have migrated our system over to Amazons robust infrastructure giving our clients more speed and reliability. This combined with improvements to the content management system and support for licensed media delivers a powerful solution to manage your displays from anywhere.

Amazon Web Services, the "Powered by Amazon Web Services" logos are trademarks of Amazon.com, Inc. or its affiliates in the United States and/or other countries.

All signchro devices and services are covered by the team at groophics, bringing over 8 years of experience supporting large and often complex digital signage systems along with broad graphics and IT knowledge for any other tasks they can assist with.

For more information please visit signchro.com, contact us at info@signchro.com, or ask your signchro reseller.

